GOVERNMENTAL ACCOUNTING STANDARDS BOARD

RULES OF PROCEDURE

I. INTRODUCTION

These Rules of Procedure, which have been adopted* pursuant to the authority granted in the Restated Certificate of Incorporation and By-Laws of the Financial Accounting Foundation (Foundation), set forth procedures followed by the Governmental Accounting Standards Board (GASB) in establishing and improving standards of financial accounting and reporting of state and local governmental entities, including procedures related to the issuance of such standards and other communications. These Rules also describe briefly the relationship of the GASB to the Foundation and the Governmental Accounting Standards Advisory Council (GASAC).

The GASB is an independent body created in 1984 pursuant to agreement among the Foundation; the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA); the Council of State Governments; the Government Finance Officers Association; the International City/County Management Association; the National Association of Counties; the National Association of State Auditors, Comptrollers and Treasurers; the National Conference of State Legislatures; the National League of Cities; the National Governors' Association; and the U.S. Conference of Mayors to serve an important public interest and is charged with a responsibility of significance to the citizenry of the United States. It is the designated organization for establishing and improving standards of financial accounting and reporting of state and local governmental entities. Those standards govern the preparation of financial reports.

*The Governmental Accounting Standards Board's Rules of Procedure were initially adopted, effective July 1985, by the Board of Trustees of the Financial Accounting Foundation. Chapter A, Article IV-A, Section 12 of the By-Laws of the Financial Accounting Foundation provides that, subject to the conditions specified therein, the GASB shall thereafter have the exclusive authority to alter, amend, supplement, repeal, and adopt Rules of Procedure, with or without notice, hearings, or exposure. It is pursuant to that authority that the GASB has adopted these amended and restated Rules of Procedure.

II. THE MISSION OF THE GOVERNMENTAL ACCOUNTING STANDARDS BOARD

A. Mission Statement

The mission of the GASB is to establish and improve standards of state and local governmental accounting and financial reporting that will:

- Result in useful information for users of financial reports, and
- Guide and educate the public, including issuers, auditors, and users of those financial reports.

The mission is accomplished through a comprehensive and independent process that encourages broad participation, objectively considers all stakeholder views, and is subject to oversight by the Financial Accounting Foundation’s Board of Trustees.

B. Uses and Users of Governmental Accounting and Financial Reporting

Accounting and financial reporting standards are essential to the efficient and effective functioning of our democratic system of government:

- Financial reporting plays a major role in fulfilling government’s duty to be publicly accountable.
- Financial reporting by state and local governments is used to assess that accountability and to make economic, social, and political decisions.

The primary users of state and local government financial reports are those:

- To whom government is primarily accountable—its citizens
- Who directly represent the citizens—legislative and oversight bodies
- Who finance government or who participate in the financing process—taxpayers, other governments, investors, creditors, underwriters, and analysts.

Government administrators are also users of financial reports; whether they are considered primary users depends on whether they have ready access to internal information.

C. How the Mission Is Accomplished

To accomplish its mission, the GASB acts to:

- Issue high-quality standards that improve the usefulness of financial reports based on the needs of financial report users and on the underlying concepts set out in the GASB's conceptual framework
- Keep standards current to reflect changes in the governmental environment
- Provide guidance on implementation of standards
- Consider significant areas of accounting and financial reporting that can be improved through the standards-setting process
- Improve the common understanding of the nature and purposes of information contained in financial reports.

The GASB develops and uses concepts to guide its work of establishing standards. Those concepts provide a frame of reference, or conceptual framework, for resolving accounting and financial reporting issues.

The GASB's work on both standards and concepts is based on research conducted by the GASB's technical staff and others. The GASB actively solicits and considers the views of its various constituencies on all accounting and financial reporting issues. The GASB's activities are open to public participation and observation under the "due process" mandated by these Rules of Procedure.

D. Guiding Principles

In establishing standards and concepts, the GASB exercises its judgment after research, due process, and careful deliberation. It is guided by these principles:

- To be objective and neutral in its decision making and to ensure, as much as possible, that the information resulting from its standards is a faithful representation of the effects of state and local government activities. Objective and neutral mean freedom from bias, precluding the GASB from placing any particular interest above the interests of the many who rely on the information contained in financial reports.
- To weigh carefully the views of its constituents in developing standards and concepts so that they will:
 - a. Meet the accountability and decision-making needs of the users of government financial reports, and
 - b. Gain general acceptance among state and local government preparers and auditors of financial reports.
- To establish standards only when the expected benefits exceed the perceived costs. The GASB strives to determine that proposed standards (including disclosure requirements) fill a significant need and that the costs they impose, compared with possible alternatives, are justified when compared to the overall public benefit.
- To consider the applicability of its standards to the separately issued general purpose financial statements of governmentally owned special entities. The GASB is aware of the unique and distinguishing characteristics of the government environment, which may require different standards from those used by similar private-sector entities. However, it specifically evaluates similarities of special entities and of their activities and transactions in both the public and private sectors, and the need, in certain instances, for comparability with the private sector.
- To bring about needed changes in ways that balance the desire to minimize disruption of accounting and financial reporting processes with the need for information in financial reports to communicate effectively to users. The GASB establishes reasonable effective dates and transition provisions when new standards are introduced.

- To review the effects of past decisions and interpret, amend, or replace standards when appropriate.

E. Due Process

The GASB is committed to following an open, orderly process for standards setting. The procedures followed by the GASB, as more fully discussed below, are designed to permit timely, thorough, and open study of accounting and financial reporting issues. These procedures are designed to encourage broad public participation in the GASB's standards-setting process by creating channels for the communication of all points of view and expressions of opinion at all stages of the process. Considering the expressed opinions of those concerned with or affected by governmental accounting and financial reporting is fundamental to the operation of the GASB. Of particular importance to the GASB is the receipt of thoughtful, reasoned, and timely input during the GASB's research, discussion, and deliberative processes. The GASB recognizes that acceptance of its conclusions is enhanced by demonstrating that the input received in due process is considered carefully.

III. DESCRIPTION OF THE ORGANIZATION

The Foundation, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB), and the Financial Accounting Standards Advisory Council (FASAC) were established in 1972 to perform important and distinct functions in the process of establishing and improving standards of financial accounting and reporting. The Foundation's Certificate of Incorporation and By-Laws were restated and amended in 1984 to create the GASB and the GASAC to establish and improve standards of financial accounting and reporting with respect to activities and transactions of state and local governmental entities.

A. The Financial Accounting Foundation

The Foundation is the independent, private-sector organization that is responsible for the oversight, administration, and finances of the FASB, the GASB, and their advisory councils, the FASAC and the GASAC. The Foundation's Certificate of Incorporation and By-Laws establish the organization and structure of the Foundation and the duties of its governing Board of Trustees. Those duties include, but are not limited to, protecting the independence and integrity of the financial accounting and reporting standards-setting process and appointing members of the FASB, GASB, FASAC, and GASAC.

The Certificate of Incorporation and By-Laws of the Foundation are available on the GASB's website under the Foundation tab.

B. The Governmental Accounting Standards Board

The Foundation's Restated Certificate of Incorporation delegates to the GASB all authority, functions, and powers of the Foundation and its Board of Trustees in respect of standards of financial accounting and reporting of state and local governmental entities. As a result, the GASB's responsibilities include establishing and improving standards of financial accounting and reporting of state and local governmental entities by defining, issuing, and promoting such standards and by issuing other communications with regard to governmental financial accounting and reporting. It also includes conducting and commissioning research (including surveys, statistical compilations, and other studies) and sponsoring meetings, conferences, hearings, and seminars in respect of financial accounting and reporting of state and local governmental entities.

The GASB is recognized as the authoritative body for establishing and improving financial accounting and reporting standards of state and local governmental entities. In May 1986, the AICPA designated the GASB (with respect to standards issued in July 1984 and subsequently) as the body to establish accounting principles for state and local governmental entities pursuant to Rule 203 of the AICPA's Code of Professional Conduct. The authoritative nature of GASB pronouncements also is or may be recognized in the statutes, charters, and/or constitutions of state and local governments.

The seven members constituting a full GASB are appointed by the Foundation's Board of Trustees for terms of up to five years. A member may serve a maximum total of 10 years. The GASB Chairman serves full time. Unless all members of the GASB are appointed to serve full time, the other members of the GASB serve either full time or part time as the Trustees shall determine, and if part time, may be in the employ of other organizations while serving on the GASB. GASB members are required to have, in the judgment of the Trustees, knowledge of governmental accounting and finance and a concern for the public interest in matters of financial accounting and reporting.

The Foundation's Trustees have adopted policies in respect of personal investments and other personal activities of GASB members and staff that are designed to prevent potential conflicts of interest. In addition, because of the limitations imposed by the employment of part-time GASB members by other organizations, such part-time members are required by the Trustees to periodically inform the Foundation's Personnel Policies Committee of the detailed nature of their activities and any changes in their employment status.

The GASB's operating procedures are set forth in Section IV hereof.

C. The Governmental Accounting Standards Advisory Council

The GASAC has an integral advisory role in the GASB's process of establishing and improving concepts and standards of financial accounting and reporting of state and local governmental entities. As an organization of knowledgeable and experienced individuals, the GASAC works closely with the GASB in an advisory capacity and strives to ensure that the views of its members are consistently and effectively communicated to the GASB on a timely basis.

To assure that a diversity of views will be represented, the GASAC consists of not fewer than 20 persons appointed by the Foundation's Board of Trustees. GASAC members are required to be, in the judgment of the Trustees, knowledgeable about the issues involving, and the impact of, financial accounting and reporting by state and local governmental entities, or to possess an expertise of value to the GASB.

The GASAC's membership broadly represents varied professional and occupational backgrounds with no profession or occupation dominating. As an additional means of involving the public in the GASB's standards-setting process, the Board of Trustees invites organizations representing issuers, auditors, and users of state and local governmental financial reports to nominate an individual to serve on the GASAC. The GASAC also includes individuals knowledgeable in particular aspects of government and the governmental financing process.

Members of the GASAC, other than its Chairman, are appointed for two-year terms expiring on December 31 in the second calendar year of their election, generally may be reappointed for up to two additional consecutive terms, and serve without remuneration. Vacancies in unexpired terms may be filled by the Trustees as deemed desirable by them, and will be filled whenever necessary to maintain the membership of the GASAC at not fewer than 20. Membership on the GASAC is personal to members, and functions of members or attendance at meetings may not be delegated to others.

The By-Laws of the Foundation charge the GASAC with responsibility for consulting with the GASB or its Chairman as to major technical issues, the GASB's agenda of projects and the priorities of the projects, matters likely to require the GASB's attention, the selection and organization of GASB task forces and other groups, and such other matters as may be requested by the GASB or its Chairman, and for assisting the Trustees in raising funds for the GASB and the GASAC.

In fulfilling that responsibility, GASAC members are expected to provide input in respect of Exposure Drafts of Statements of Governmental Accounting Standards and Interpretations, discussion documents, proposed Technical Bulletins, and other documents proposed for issuance by the GASB, as well as input on such other matters as may be referred to them or the GASAC from time to time by the GASAC Chairman or by the GASB or its Chairman. Members of the GASAC also are expected to be alert to publicly expressed views and concerns regarding existing governmental financial accounting and reporting concepts and standards (including implementation issues and the effect of subsequent events and circumstances) and to advise the GASAC and the GASB as to the desirability of the GASB's reviewing or reexamining those standards. Additionally, members of the GASAC are expected to communicate their individual perceptions of potential effects of proposed or effective pronouncements and to provide comments on broader policy questions, such as whether constituent views are being appropriately balanced, cost/benefit relationships, and due process considerations. GASAC members are encouraged to consult with one another and with others and to speak and write publicly on issues with respect to the work of the GASAC and the GASB.

To facilitate the work of the GASAC, its Chairman also may organize and appoint committees of GASAC members as deemed appropriate.

The GASAC's operating procedures, adopted by the Foundation's Board of Trustees, can be found in the appendix. Meetings of the GASAC will be open to public observation as provided in the operating procedures.

IV. OPERATING PROCEDURES OF THE GOVERNMENTAL ACCOUNTING STANDARDS BOARD

The operating procedures of the GASB are designed to permit timely, thorough, and open study of financial accounting and reporting issues regarding state and local governmental entities and to encourage broad public participation in the process of establishing and improving standards of financial accounting and reporting concerning those entities. This entails keeping the public informed at all times of important developments with respect to the GASB's operations and encouraging participation in the GASB's standards-setting activities.

The objective of the GASB's policy of openness and broad public participation in its standards-setting process is to stimulate consideration and debate within the GASB's constituencies on matters of significance to the public. Members of the GASB, the GASB's staff, task forces and other groups, and the GASAC are free to express their individual views on matters under consideration in order to stimulate constructive public dialogue. The public is encouraged to do likewise, and individuals and organizations are invited to make their views and concerns known to the GASB and the GASAC through thoughtful, reasoned, and timely communication at all stages of the GASB's processes.

A. The Chairman

The principal officer of the GASB is its Chairman, who is appointed by and serves at the pleasure of the Foundation's Board of Trustees and presides at the GASB's meetings. The GASB Chairman is responsible for establishing, implementing, and directing operating policies and procedures for the GASB and its staff, task forces, and other groups. In fulfilling that responsibility, the GASB Chairman works in cooperation with other members of the GASB and the Director of Research and Technical Activities. The GASB Chairman also works in cooperation with the GASAC Chairman to assist the GASAC in accomplishing its functions and to facilitate the work of the GASB, and consults with the FASB Chairman to enhance the effectiveness of the interrelationships between the GASB and the FASB and their staffs.

The GASB Chairman may delegate or assign particular functions or duties to other members of the GASB, the Director of Research and Technical Activities, the GASB's staff, task forces, the GASAC (on consultation with the GASAC Chairman), and such others as the Chairman may determine.

B. Project Plans

The GASB Chairman is responsible for preparing the GASB's annual budget, with the advice of the members of the GASB, for approval by the Foundation's Board of Trustees. In addition, the GASB is responsible for establishing short- and long-range project plans, including an agenda of specific projects and their priorities, which plans and all modifications thereto shall be approved by at least a majority of the GASB's members. Changes to the GASB's technical agenda that are approved by the GASB members will be announced at meetings of the GASB and through postings to the GASB's website. Such announcements will provide information necessary to understand the background and reasoning for the changes to the agenda.

The GASB or its Chairman consults with the GASAC concerning major technical issues, the GASB's agenda of projects and assigning of priorities of the projects, the selection and organization of GASB task forces, and other matters likely to require the GASB's attention. The GASB also considers timely suggestions from other individuals and organizations. When the GASB approves a project and assigns its priority, the Director of Research and Technical Activities will generally assign two or more members of the GASB's technical staff to work on the project.

The Chairman prepares and transmits to the Trustees quarterly and annual reports about the activities of the GASB and its progress with respect to its project plans, including an annual evaluation of the GASB's performance within the context of its mission statement. The Chairman prepares and transmits similar reports to the GASAC in advance of each of its meetings. These reports to the Trustees and the GASAC constitute part of the GASB's public file.

C. Staff

The GASB Chairman is responsible for determining the GASB's personnel requirements and for selecting the Director of Research and Technical Activities and the GASB's staff. As such, the Chairman has authority to hire and retain staff members to serve the GASB and to determine their duties and remuneration, in accordance with Foundation policies. The Chairman also has authority to appoint and contract with any other persons or organizations with respect to research (following consultation with the Director of Research and Technical Activities) and other technical services to be performed by consultants or independent contractors. The GASB staff shall, in the judgment of the GASB Chairman, each have knowledge of governmental accounting and finance and a concern for the public interest in matters of financial accounting and reporting.

The GASB supplements its technical staff through a "Fellow Program" and a "Postgraduate Program." Members of the Fellow Program typically have experience or a background in public accounting, academe, or government and serve as technical staff members for generally a two-year term on the understanding that they expect to return to their former employers at the completion of their terms. Members of the Postgraduate Program generally are individuals seeking a career in accounting or public administration who are nominated by their schools. They serve as technical staff members for generally a one-year term.

Members of the GASB's staff, task forces, and other persons employed, hired, or otherwise retained or appointed by or at the direction of the Chairman serve at the pleasure of the Chairman or as otherwise provided in contracts made by or at the Chairman's direction.

D. Task Forces and Other Groups

The GASB Chairman establishes and makes appointments to GASB task forces or other groups, as appropriate, following consultation with other members of the GASB, the Director of Research and Technical Activities, and the GASAC Chairman. Task forces and other groups play an important role in the process of establishing and improving standards of financial accounting and reporting. They provide experience and diverse viewpoints on issues, a mechanism for communication between the GASB and its constituents, and a means for the GASB to learn of potential implementation issues at an early date.

The GASB Chairman may establish a task force or other group for any purpose and may specify operating and administrative procedures for the group provided that they are consistent with the GASB's Rules of Procedure. For example, the Chairman may establish a task force or other group during the early stages of staff research on an agenda project to assist in defining the issues to be researched and in preparing a discussion document, after issuance of a discussion document to counsel the Board on specific issues, or subsequent to issuance of a standard so as to advise on implementation issues concerning a pronouncement or the desirability of the GASB's reviewing or reexamining a pronouncement. Meetings of task forces and other groups will be open to public observation.

Members of GASB task forces and other groups may be anyone possessing an expertise or viewpoint relevant to the project, including members of the GASAC. Members of the GASB's task forces and other groups serve at the pleasure of the GASB Chairman or as otherwise provided in contracts made by or at the Chairman's direction. The GASB Chairman will designate a chairman for each task force or other group, typically the lead GASB staff member assigned to the project.

E. Research Projects

Following consultation with the Director of Research and Technical Activities, the GASB Chairman authorizes and approves such research projects as the Chairman may deem necessary or desirable and provides for research to be conducted by the GASB's technical staff, by consultants or independent contractors, or by task force members. Proposals for research may be submitted to the Chairman by the Director of Research and Technical Activities; other members of the GASB; members of the GASB's staff, the GASAC, task forces or other groups; or any other individual or organization.

Research generally is directed to specific issues associated with projects that are on the GASB's technical agenda or that might be added to the GASB's technical agenda. As such, the research may be expected to have a problem-solving orientation and to provide information about specific questions and the impact of alternative solutions. Theoretical and conceptual research will also be conducted when the circumstances so warrant.

Written research data and summaries of research data constitute a part of the GASB's public file.

F. Discussion Documents

The GASB may seek information about financial accounting and reporting issues and related matters by issuing a discussion document. A discussion document may be issued either as part of the research process or as part of the issue resolution process, and may take the form of a Discussion Memorandum, an Invitation to Comment, or a Preliminary Views. Whether such a document will be issued and which form it will take depends on such factors as the ability of the GASB to make an informed decision based on the information already at hand and the contentiousness of the issues.

The GASB will seek public comment on all discussion documents for such period (not less than 30 days) as the GASB may determine. Written comments received in response to a discussion document constitute a part of the GASB's public file and will be posted to the GASB's website. Notice of issuance and availability of each discussion document will be made by press release; on the GASB website; in the GASB's newsletter, The GASB Report; and in other GASB publications.

1. Discussion Memorandums

A Discussion Memorandum is intended to be a neutral staff document. Although there is no prescribed format for Discussion Memorandums, they generally set forth the definition of an issue and the scope of a project, identify relevant financial accounting and reporting considerations, discuss research findings and relevant literature, and include alternative solutions to the issues under consideration and the arguments and implications relative to each. When the GASB Chairman or the Chairman's designee—after consideration of the views and comments of members of the GASB, task forces and other groups, and others—is satisfied that a Discussion Memorandum satisfactorily deals with the issue, project, and relevant considerations, it will be released for public distribution and comment, either written or both written and in connection with a public hearing or forum. The GASB may issue a Discussion Memorandum at any time it deems appropriate, regardless of whether a task force or other group has been established or otherwise is available to advise on a project.

2. Invitations to Comment

An Invitation to Comment is a staff document. Depending on the circumstances, it may contain elements of a Discussion Memorandum, a Preliminary Views, or both. An Invitation to Comment will be released for public distribution and comment provided four or more of the GASB members do not object to its issuance. Comments may be sought on an Invitation to Comment either in writing or both in writing and in connection with a public hearing or forum, and regardless of whether a task force or other group has been established or otherwise is available to advise on a project.

3. Preliminary Views

A Preliminary Views is a Board document designed to set forth and seek comments on the Board's consensus at a relatively early stage of a project. It might be prepared, for example, when the Board anticipates that respondents are likely to be sharply divided on the issues or when the Board itself is sharply divided on the issues. When two or three Board members hold an alternative view, a Preliminary Views contains a complete presentation of both the preliminary views and the alternative view. A Preliminary Views will be released for public distribution and comment after voting in accordance with the requirements of paragraph H(5). Comments may be sought on a Preliminary Views either in writing or both in writing and in connection with a public hearing or forum, and regardless of whether a task force or other group has been established or otherwise is available to advise on a project.

G. Public Hearings and Forums

The GASB will seek information about financial accounting and reporting issues and related matters requiring resolution by holding a public hearing or forum, unless, in the judgment of the GASB on the basis of existing data, it can make an informed decision without one. The basis for a public hearing or forum generally will be a discussion document or an Exposure Draft, although the GASB also may determine to hold hearings in relation to any other study, report, or other matter. Each public hearing or forum will be conducted by one or more members of the GASB or its technical staff pursuant to procedures approved by the GASB.

The GASB will publicly announce its intent to hold a public hearing or forum generally at least 60 days prior to the earliest date of the hearing or forum, unless a shorter period (not less than 30 days) is considered appropriate by the GASB. Those public announcements will be by press release, and will be followed as soon as practicable by public distribution of a notice of public hearing and, if and as practicable, announcement on the GASB website and in the GASB's newsletter, The GASB Report, or other GASB publications. Each notice of public hearing or forum will set forth:

1. The time, date, location, and general format of the hearing or forum
2. A brief statement of the subject or purpose of the hearing or forum
3. The date or dates by which those wishing to participate in the hearing or forum are to notify the GASB and submit written comments
4. The duration of oral presentations at the hearing or forum
5. Other information as the GASB may determine.

Any individual or organization may request to participate in a public hearing or forum. To the extent practicable, the GASB attempts to include all those making timely requests. Submission of written comments generally will be a condition to being heard at a public hearing but may not be required for certain types of forums. Materials submitted to the GASB constitute a part of its public file and will be posted to the GASB's website.

Public hearings and forums may be adjourned in whole or in part to reconvene at another time, date, or location, or may be extended to an additional date or dates at the same or different locations, with the same or a different format, without any announcement other than announcement at the hearing or forum.

Transcripts of public hearings and forums, if they are prepared, will be made publicly available as part of the GASB's public file.

H. Standards and Other Communications

In the exercise of its authority, the GASB issues, as discussed below, Statements of Governmental Accounting Standards and Interpretations relating to accounting for and presenting financial information, Statements of Governmental Accounting Concepts (“Concepts Statements”) relating to the underlying conceptual framework for financial accounting and reporting, Technical Bulletins and Implementation Guides to provide timely implementation and other guidance, and other communications related to governmental financial accounting and reporting. GASB Statements of Governmental Accounting Standards and Interpretations of such Statements are incorporated into an authoritative Codification of Governmental Accounting and Financial Reporting Standards. The GASB has final and ultimate authority over the subject, style, content, and substance of its communications.

1. Statements of Governmental Accounting Standards

Each Statement of Governmental Accounting Standards, and each Exposure Draft of a proposed Statement of Governmental Accounting Standards, will include:

- a. The actual or proposed standards of governmental financial accounting and reporting
- b. The Statement’s actual or proposed effective date of application and method of transition
- c. Background information, including a brief description of research undertaken in connection with development of the Statement or proposed Statement
- d. The basis for the GASB’s conclusions, including its reasons (conceptual or otherwise) for accepting certain alternatives and rejecting others, and a summary of significant and relevant points of view communicated to the GASB in response to due process documents
- e. Instructions for incorporating the Statement or proposed Statement into the GASB Codification
- f. Other information or data as the GASB may determine.

Each Statement of Governmental Accounting Standards will identify those members of the GASB who voted for and those who voted against its issuance and will include comments of dissenting members in support of their dissents, following the Basis for Conclusions.

The GASB will expose all proposed Statements of Governmental Accounting Standards for public comment for at least 60 days, unless a shorter period (not less than 30 days) is considered appropriate by the GASB. Exposure Drafts, and notices of issuance of Exposure Drafts, will specify the time and manner in which individuals and organizations may comment. Written comments received in response to Exposure Drafts constitute a part of the GASB's public file and will be posted to the GASB's website.

Notice of issuance and availability of each Statement of Governmental Accounting Standards and of each Exposure Draft of a proposed Statement will be made by press release; on the GASB website; in the GASB's newsletter, The GASB Report; and in other GASB publications.

2. Interpretations

Each Interpretation issued by the GASB will relate to a Statement of Governmental Accounting Standards or an effective Statement of the National Council on Governmental Accounting and will be issued to clarify, explain, or elaborate on a pronouncement as an aid to its understanding. Accordingly, the GASB need not appoint task forces or other groups, conduct research, or hold public hearings or forums. Interpretations have the same authoritative status as the pronouncements they interpret.

Each Interpretation and each proposed Interpretation will include:

- a. Identification of each Statement of Governmental Accounting Standards, Statement of the National Council on Governmental Accounting, or portion of the 1974 AICPA state and local government Industry Audit Guide being interpreted
- b. The actual or proposed Interpretation
- c. The Interpretation's actual or proposed effective date of application and method of transition (if any)
- d. Background or introductory information

- e. The basis for the GASB's conclusions, including its reasons (conceptual or otherwise) for accepting certain alternatives and rejecting others
- f. Instructions for incorporating the Interpretation or proposed Interpretation in the GASB Codification
- g. Other information or data as the GASB may determine.

Each Interpretation will identify those members of the GASB who voted for and those who voted against its issuance and will include comments of dissenting members in support of their dissents, following the Basis for Conclusions.

The GASB will expose all proposed Interpretations for public comment for at least 30 days. Exposure Drafts of proposed Interpretations and notices of issuance of Exposure Drafts will specify the time and manner in which individuals and organizations may comment. Written comments received in response to Exposure Drafts of proposed Interpretations constitute a part of the GASB's public file and will be posted to the GASB's website.

Notice of issuance and availability of each Interpretation and of each Exposure Draft of a proposed Interpretation will be made by press release; on the GASB website; in the GASB's newsletter, The GASB Report; and in other GASB publications.

3. Codification

All effective Statements and Interpretations of Governmental Accounting Standards and Statements and Interpretations of the National Council on Governmental Accounting will be codified in the GASB's authoritative Codification of Governmental Accounting and Financial Reporting Standards. In addition, other pronouncements and communications, such as Statements of Governmental Accounting Concepts and Technical Bulletins, are included in the Codification to enhance its usefulness.

Codification instructions will be included with each proposed Statement of Governmental Accounting Standards, Interpretation, Statement of Governmental Accounting Concepts, and Technical Bulletin that is exposed for public comment; however, the Codification itself will not be exposed. Any editorial changes made to the original pronouncement for codification purposes cannot constitute a change in the pronouncement's substance.

4. Other Communications

The GASB may from time to time, at its discretion and with or without appointment of task forces, research, notice, public hearings, or public exposure, issue in its name or at its discretion other communications related to governmental financial accounting and reporting. Those communications may include, among others, Statements of Governmental Accounting Concepts, Technical Bulletins, Implementation Guides, Research Reports, Special Reports, responses to requests and inquiries, and statements of policy dealing with matters of governmental financial accounting and reporting.

a. Statements of Governmental Accounting Concepts

Statements of Governmental Accounting Concepts are intended to establish objectives and concepts that the GASB will use in developing governmental financial accounting and reporting guidance. They are intended to help establish reasonable bounds for judgment in preparing and using financial reports. Statements of Governmental Accounting Concepts assist in resolving certain issues of governmental financial accounting and reporting that are not addressed in authoritative pronouncements. They also enhance the assessment by users of the nature, content, and limitations of information provided by governmental financial accounting and reporting and thereby further the ability to use that information effectively.

Unlike Statements of Governmental Accounting Standards, Statements of Governmental Accounting Concepts do not establish accounting principles within the meaning of, and do not invoke application of, Rule 203 of the AICPA's Code of Professional Conduct. However, because of their importance, they are developed under the same due process that the GASB follows in developing its Statements of Governmental Accounting Standards.

Each Statement of Governmental Accounting Concepts, and each Exposure Draft of a proposed Statement of Governmental Accounting Concepts, will include:

- a. The actual or proposed governmental financial accounting and reporting concepts
- b. Background information

- d. Instructions for including the Concepts Statement or proposed Concepts Statement in the GASB Codification
- e. Other information or data as the GASB may determine.

Each Statement of Governmental Accounting Concepts will identify those members of the GASB who voted for and those who voted against its issuance and will include comments of dissenting members in support of their dissents, following the background and supporting analysis.

The GASB will expose all proposed Statements of Governmental Accounting Concepts for public comment for at least 60 days, unless a shorter period (not less than 30 days) is considered appropriate by the GASB. Exposure Drafts, and notices of issuance of Exposure Drafts, will specify the time and manner in which individuals and organizations may comment. Written comments received in response to Exposure Drafts constitute a part of the GASB's public file and will be posted to the GASB's website.

Notice of issuance and availability of each Statement of Governmental Accounting Concepts and of each Exposure Draft of such Statements will be made by press release; on the GASB website; in the GASB's newsletter, The GASB Report; and in other GASB publications.

b. Technical Bulletins

The GASB has authorized its staff to prepare Technical Bulletins to provide timely guidance for applying GASB Statements and Interpretations and resolving financial accounting and reporting issues not directly addressed by those pronouncements. A Technical Bulletin may include:

1. Guidance to clarify, explain, or elaborate on an underlying Statement or Interpretation
2. Guidance to address areas not directly covered by existing Statements or Interpretations
3. Interim guidance on issues associated with applying an existing Statement or Interpretation currently under study by the GASB
4. Guidance for applying FASB standards to governmental activities, if applicable.

The GASB's staff analyzes an accounting or financial reporting issue that comes to the GASB's attention to determine whether the matter may be resolved by issuing a Technical Bulletin. Generally, a Technical Bulletin can provide guidance if the issue can be resolved within these guidelines:

1. The guidance is not expected to cause a major change in accounting or financial reporting practice for a significant number of entities.
2. The administrative cost involved in implementing the guidance is not expected to be significant to most affected entities.
3. The guidance does not conflict with a broad fundamental principle or create a novel accounting or financial reporting practice.

Generally, a GASB Statement or Interpretation is more appropriate than a Technical Bulletin if any one of those guidelines is not met.

GASB members will be provided with copies of all draft Technical Bulletins before their release for public comment. If four or more members of the GASB do not object, the Director of Research and Technical Activities will release the proposed Technical Bulletins to selected knowledgeable persons or groups for comment. Further, proposed Technical Bulletins will be publicized so interested parties may obtain a copy from the GASB. Any party may comment in writing to the Director of Research and Technical Activities during an exposure period of not less than 15 days. The GASB will maintain a public record of proposed Technical Bulletins and all written comments received in response to the proposals. The proposals and the related comment letters will be posted to the GASB's website.

All comments received on proposed Technical Bulletins will be given to the GASB members for consideration at a public meeting before final issuance. A Technical Bulletin will not be issued if four or more GASB members object either to the guidance in it or to communicating that guidance in a Technical Bulletin.

Each Technical Bulletin and proposed Technical Bulletin will specify an effective date and transition provisions for initial application and will include instructions for including its provisions in the GASB's Codification.

c. Implementation Guides

The GASB has authorized its staff to issue Implementation Guides to provide guidance on implementing GASB Statements and Interpretations. Separate Implementation Guides cover a broad range of topics within the scope of a particular pronouncement or pronouncements. The Comprehensive Implementation Guide, which is updated annually, combines and updates the guidance presented in separate Implementation Guides and offers questions and answers on pronouncements for which separate Implementation Guides have not been issued. Guidance provided in an Implementation Guide[†] is limited to clarifying, explaining, or elaborating on the standards contained in the pronouncement(s); issues related to specific types of governmental entities affected by the pronouncement(s) also may be addressed.

A draft of the Implementation Guide will be provided to GASB members and to an advisory committee of selected knowledgeable persons for a period of not less than 15 days. All comments received will be provided to the GASB members. Issues and comments received on the draft need not be discussed by the Board at a public meeting. A draft of the final Implementation Guide is required to be approved by the Director of Research and Technical Activities and then provided to the GASB members before its issuance. A final Implementation Guide will not be issued if four or more of the GASB members object.

5. Voting Requirements

At least four GASB members must approve:

- a. Issuance of any Statement of Governmental Accounting Standards, Statement of Governmental Accounting Concepts, Interpretation, Exposure Draft, or Preliminary Views
- b. Closure of a meeting to public observation (see Section IV-I)
- c. Amendment of the Rules of Procedure.

[†]Throughout this document, "Implementation Guides" should be understood to include the annual Comprehensive Implementation Guide, unless otherwise noted.

At least four GASB members must not object to:

- a. Issuance of any Technical Bulletin or Implementation Guide or release of an Invitation to Comment or a proposed Technical Bulletin for comment
- b. Clearance of any technical document submitted by the AICPA.

A member of the GASB may vote even if he or she was not a member or did not participate in any public hearing or forum or otherwise during the research, discussion, or deliberative periods. A member of the GASB may continue to participate in public hearings or forums or otherwise during the research, discussion, and deliberative periods even though that member has disqualified or may disqualify himself or herself on a particular vote.

A majority of GASB members serving constitutes a quorum for the transaction of business, and the act of four GASB members is required to approve all matters, except as otherwise specifically provided by the By-Laws of the Foundation and these Rules of Procedure. Voting by GASB members on issuance of any Statement of Governmental Accounting Standards, Statement of Governmental Accounting Concepts, Interpretation, Exposure Draft, Preliminary Views, Technical Bulletin, or Implementation Guide, or release of an Invitation to Comment or a proposed Technical Bulletin for comment will be by written ballot. Any other action of the GASB requiring a vote of its members may be approved at a meeting of the GASB or by written ballot of its members.

6. Review Procedures

Any individual or organization may request in writing that the GASB review or reexamine any effective Statement of Governmental Accounting Standards, Statement of Governmental Accounting Concepts, Interpretation, Technical Bulletin, Implementation Guide, or Statement or Interpretation of the National Council on Governmental Accounting. Each such request should:

- a. Identify the pronouncement, or portion of a pronouncement, that is the subject of the request

- b. State in sufficient detail the reason or reasons for the request, including information as to whether and how events and circumstances subsequent to the issuance of the pronouncement (including transitional and implementation issues) may be involved
- c. Set forth specific proposals for solution (such as amendment or interpretation of an existing pronouncement), with reasoning (technical or other as appropriate and practicable) in support of such proposals.

Copies of each request for review or reexamination should be addressed to the GASB's Director of Research and Technical Activities. Requests may be emailed to director@gasb.org or sent via U.S. mail to Governmental Accounting Standards Board, 401 Merritt 7, PO Box 5116, Norwalk, Connecticut 06856-5116. All such requests will be circulated to the members of the GASB and such others (members of the GASB's technical staff, task forces and other groups, and the GASAC and otherwise) as the GASB Chairman may determine.

In its consideration of such requests, the GASB will seek to determine whether the information and reasoning submitted in support of the request were adequately considered and dealt with by the GASB prior to issuance of the pronouncement in question, and whether events and circumstances coming to the GASB's attention are such as to warrant GASB review or reexamination. When it determines that adequate consideration may not have been given previously to such information or reasoning or that events and circumstances are such as to warrant review or reexamination, the GASB will consider and, at its discretion, take such action as it deems appropriate in the circumstances. All requests for review or reexamination will be appropriately acknowledged. Requests for review or reexamination constitute a part of the GASB's public file.

The GASB may on its own initiative review or reexamine any pronouncement at any time. The GASB periodically reviews developments and governmental financial accounting and reporting questions (including implementation issues) coming to its attention, and determines whether, in its judgment, the matter requires resolution by the GASB.

I. Meetings of the Governmental Accounting Standards Board

Except as hereinafter provided, all meetings of the GASB will be open to public observation to the extent of available seating at the place of meeting. For purposes of this section, a “meeting” means the joint deliberations (with or without others present) of at least a majority of the members of the GASB then serving where such deliberations are intended or expected by the Chairman to involve matters related to establishing or improving standards of governmental financial accounting and reporting or the underlying conceptual framework for governmental financial accounting and reporting. One or more members may participate in a meeting by telephone or other electronic means. For this purpose, a meeting does not include (i) discussion among GASB members that involves simply the reporting of events or the consideration of administrative matters; (ii) an informal gathering primarily of a social nature; or (iii) in view of the part-time nature of the GASB, informational or briefing sessions for GASB members (regardless of the number of members present), where such sessions are not intended or expected to result in decisions on technical issues.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, any meeting or portion of a meeting of the GASB may be closed to public observation if, by vote of GASB members (see Section IV-H(5)), such meeting (or portion of that meeting) is determined as likely to result in discussion or disclosure of matters that relate to:

1. Administrative matters, such as personnel rules and practices, including matters with respect to selection, removal, promotion, or salaries
2. Privileged matters, matters specifically exempted by statute or order from public disclosure, or proprietary information of a general character and statistical data and related explanatory material submitted, and information and data requested by the GASB, under confidential treatment
3. Information of a personal nature, disclosure of which would constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy
4. Matters that concern participation in proceedings in court or other involvement in judicial or other legal or regulatory proceedings.

If a meeting is to be closed in whole or in part to public observation, or if GASB action is to be taken by written ballot in lieu of a vote at a meeting, then, in each such case, the GASB will, as soon as practicable, make a public announcement of its reasons for closing the meeting (or portion of the meeting) or of the matters voted on by ballot.

The GASB will publicly announce the time, date, and place of each GASB meeting, the agenda for the meeting, the extent and reason any part of the meeting is to be closed to public observation, and a telephone number to call for further information. Those announcements will be made at least four days in advance of regular meetings and two days in advance of special meetings, unless the GASB's Chairman determines that the business to come before the GASB requires earlier consideration, in which event such announcements will be made as soon as practicable. All significant changes in prior publicly announced information about meetings will be publicly announced if and as practicable. All public announcements contemplated or permitted by these Rules of Procedure may be made by or at the direction of the Chairman and will be sufficient if made by press release or such other means as the Chairman may determine. The Chairman may adjourn any meeting in whole or in part to reconvene at another time, date, or place without any announcement other than announcement at the meeting.

The GASB will maintain minutes of its public meetings, which summarize the matters discussed and the votes taken, as a part of the GASB's public file.

Nothing in this section shall (i) authorize any person, unless specifically agreed to by the GASB Chairman, to be heard at, or otherwise to participate in, any meeting of the GASB, or to record any meeting or portion thereof by electronic or photographic devices; (ii) grant any person any rights not otherwise existing, including, without limitation, rights of access to any document, information, or data not otherwise existing under these Rules of Procedure; (iii) obligate the GASB to provide any documents, information, or data used or referred to in the course of any meeting to any person; (iv) preclude the ejection or exclusion of any person in attendance at any meeting whenever the GASB Chairman deems such action appropriate to preserve decorum, or for health or safety reasons, or to terminate behavior unauthorized by this section; or (v) preclude the GASB Chairman from directing that a meeting in session be cleared of spectators, temporarily or permanently, whenever the Chairman determines that the discussion during such meeting or any portion open to public observation is likely to result in discussion or disclosure of matters that would permit the meeting to be closed.

J. Public Announcements and Public File

The GASB Chairman is responsible for announcing developments in the operations and activities of the GASB that the Chairman deems of importance to the public. The Chairman will make public announcements of the following:

1. Changes to the GASB's agenda of projects, including the review or reexamination of any effective Statement of Governmental Accounting Standards, Statement of Governmental Accounting Concepts, Interpretation, Technical Bulletin, Implementation Guide, or Statement or Interpretation of the National Council on Governmental Accounting; such announcements will provide background and other information necessary to explain the background and reasoning for the change to the agenda
2. The time, date, and place of each meeting of the GASB, a task force or other group; the agenda for the meeting; the extent and reason any part of the meeting is to be closed to public observation; and a telephone number to call for further information
3. The GASB's intention to hold a public hearing or forum; the time, date, location, and general format of the hearing or forum; a brief statement of the subject or purpose of the hearing or forum; the date or dates by which those wishing to participate in the hearing or forum are to notify the GASB and to submit written comments; the duration of oral presentations at the hearing or forum; the availability of documents and background and other materials for the public hearing or forum; and the availability of minutes (or transcripts) of the hearing or forum, if prepared
4. All significant changes in prior publicly announced information about meetings (including public hearings and forums) if and as practicable

1. Project plans of the GASB
2. Notices of, and background and other materials for, public hearings and forums
3. Text of proposed oral presentations at public hearings and forums received by the GASB, and minutes (or transcripts) of public hearings and forums, if prepared
4. Written comments received by the GASB in respect of matters related to current agenda projects from the GASAC and its committees; GASB task forces and other groups; members of the foregoing; and other individuals and organizations (other than proprietary material of a general character and statistical data and related explanatory material submitted, and information and data requested by the GASB, under confidential treatment)
5. Published reports prepared by or for the GASB or any of its task forces or other groups, including written research data and summaries of such data

8. Statements of policy, such as Rules of Procedure
9. The ballots of members of the GASB, and comments of dissenting members, on the issuance of final Statements of Governmental Accounting Standards, Statements of Governmental Accounting Concepts, Interpretations, Technical Bulletins, Implementation Guides, and discussion documents, Exposure Drafts, and proposed Technical Bulletins released for comment
10. The minutes of public meetings of, the GASB, the GASAC, and GASB task forces and other groups

12. The annual reports of the Foundation, and the quarterly reports of the GASB Chairman to the Foundation's Board of Trustees as to the GASB's activities and its progress.

To facilitate the free expression of views among members and staff of the Foundation, the GASB, the GASAC, and the GASB's task forces and other groups, none of the following will be a part of the GASB's public file or be publicly available: (i) work papers, (ii) memorandums and other internal materials (such as emails and responses to technical inquiries), and (iii) information and data the discussion or disclosure of which would constitute a basis for closing a meeting in whole or in part to public observation.

K. Availability of Publications

To promote broad public participation in the process of establishing and improving governmental financial accounting and reporting standards, the GASB will make available on request, without charge, at least one copy of each discussion document, Exposure Draft, or proposed Technical Bulletin. All discussion documents, Exposure Drafts, and proposed Technical Bulletins also will be made available to download, without charge, from the GASB website. For additional quantities, and for all copies ordered after the completion of public hearings and forums, or after the comment period for documents not involving public hearings or forums, generally there will be a charge.

Publications of the GASB are subject to copyright restrictions. The GASB permits a limited number of copies of its publications to be made for internal or personal use but not for resale or external distribution.

L. Requests for Information

Requests for information regarding the GASB's public file or about meetings of the GASB, GASB task forces or other groups, or the GASAC may be emailed to director@gasb.org; sent via U.S. mail to Governmental Accounting Standards Board, 401 Merritt 7, PO Box 5116, Norwalk, Connecticut 06856-5116; or directed to the GASB's Supervisor of Administration by calling 203-847-0700.

In addition, the GASB maintains a site on the Internet accessible at www.gasb.org. That site includes current information about GASB activities, projects, and publications.

OPERATING PROCEDURES OF THE GOVERNMENTAL ACCOUNTING STANDARDS ADVISORY COUNCIL

These Operating Procedures, prepared under direction of the Chairman of the Governmental Accounting Standards Advisory Council (GASAC) and approved by the Board of Trustees of the Financial Accounting Foundation (Foundation),* set forth procedures for the GASAC in its mission of advising the Governmental Accounting Standards Board (GASB) in the establishment and improvement of concepts and standards of financial accounting and reporting for state and local governmental entities. As such, these Operating Procedures are not an exclusive enumeration of the GASAC's procedures but, rather, are intended to serve as a guide so as to better assure accomplishment of the GASAC's mission and to facilitate the work of the GASB.

I. THE GOVERNMENTAL ACCOUNTING STANDARDS ADVISORY COUNCIL

A. Mission

The GASAC has an integral advisory role in the GASB's process of establishing and improving concepts and standards of accounting and financial reporting for state and local governmental entities, and advising the Foundation on matters affecting the GASB. As an organization of knowledgeable and experienced individuals, the GASAC works closely with the GASB in an advisory capacity and strives to ensure that the views of its members are consistently and effectively communicated to the GASB on a timely basis.

*These Operating Procedures, as amended have been approved by the Board of Trustees of the Financial Accounting Foundation pursuant to Chapter A, Article V-A, Section 4 of the By-Laws of the Financial Accounting Foundation.

The mission of the GASAC is achieved through the following efforts:

Technical Agenda—To consult with the GASB or its Chairman on major technical issues, the GASB’s agenda of projects and the assigning of priorities thereto, and matters likely to require the attention of the GASB.

Communication—To provide input, views, and comments to the GASB regarding proposed and existing governmental financial accounting and reporting concepts and standards, in consultation with one another and others. In order to communicate more effectively, such input to the GASB may be provided on a personal basis by individual GASAC members directly to the GASB or in the publicly expressed views of the GASAC members.

Administration—To consult, upon request, with the GASB on administrative matters such as the selection and organization of GASB task forces and other groups.

Fund Raising—To advise and assist the Foundation in raising funds for the GASB and the GASAC.

Cooperation—To encourage cooperation between the GASB and the Financial Accounting Standards Board and other professional organizations.

Public Relations—To ensure that information on the GASB’s activities and publications is shared with GASAC member organizations and others as a means of promoting the GASB’s mission and gathering the views of those member organizations and others in the GASB’s constituency.

These efforts are accomplished through regular meetings; through service of GASAC members on GASAC committees and, when requested, on GASB task forces and other groups; through liaison activities with the member organizations of the GASAC; and through public presentations by GASAC members about the GASB and its mission.

B. Membership

To assure that a diversity of views will be represented, the GASAC consists of not fewer than 20 persons appointed by the Foundation's Board of Trustees. GASAC members are required to be, in the judgment of the Trustees, knowledgeable about the issues involving, and the impact of, financial accounting and reporting by state and local governmental entities, or to possess an expertise of value to the GASB.

The GASAC's membership broadly represents varied professional and occupational backgrounds with no profession or occupation dominating. As an additional means of involving the public in the GASB's standards-setting process, the Board of Trustees invites organizations broadly representative of the GASB's diverse constituencies to nominate an individual to serve on the GASAC. Nominating organizations shall include the Council of State Governments; Government Finance Officers Association; International City/County Management Association; National Association of Counties; National Association of State Auditors, Comptrollers and Treasurers; National Conference of State Legislatures; National Governors' Association; National League of Cities; and United States Conference of Mayors.

Members of the GASAC, other than its Chairman, appointed for two-year terms expiring on December 31 in the second calendar year of their election, generally may be reappointed for up to two additional consecutive terms, and serve without remuneration. Vacancies in unexpired terms may be filled by the Trustees as deemed desirable by them and shall be filled whenever necessary to maintain the membership of the GASAC at not fewer than 20. The GASAC Chairman advises the Trustees in their selection of GASAC members, with regard to the representation of a diversity of views on the GASAC and the effectiveness of its members. Membership on the GASAC is personal to members, and functions of members or attendance at meetings may not be delegated to others.

C. Functions

The By-Laws of the Financial Accounting Foundation charge the GASAC with responsibility for consulting with the GASB or its Chairman as to major technical issues, the GASB's agenda of projects and the priorities of the projects, matters likely to require the GASB's attention, the selection and organization of GASB task forces and other groups, and such other matters as may be requested by the GASB or its Chairman.

In fulfilling that responsibility, GASAC members are expected to provide input in respect of Exposure Drafts of Statements of Governmental Accounting Standards and Interpretations, discussion documents, proposed Technical Bulletins, and other documents proposed for issuance by the GASB, as well as input on such other matters as may be referred to them or the GASAC from time to time by the GASAC Chairman or by the GASB or its Chairman. Members of the GASAC also are expected to be alert to publicly expressed views and concerns regarding existing governmental financial accounting and reporting concepts or standards (including implementation issues and the effect of subsequent events and circumstances) and to advise the GASAC and the GASB as to the desirability of the GASB's reviewing or reexamining those standards. Additionally, members of the GASAC are expected to communicate their individual perceptions of potential effects of proposed or effective pronouncements and to provide comments on broader policy questions, such as whether constituent views are being appropriately balanced, cost/benefit relationships, and due process considerations. Members of the GASAC are encouraged to consult with one another and with others. Further, members of the GASAC are expected to update the other members on official positions taken by their respective organizations on emerging or ongoing issues of importance since the prior GASAC meeting.

To enhance the thoroughness and effectiveness of their communications with the GASB and other GASAC members, GASAC members are encouraged to share GASAC materials with such of their associates and others as they believe can assist them and to gather the views of as many as they reasonably can. To this end, GASAC members are encouraged to speak and write publicly on issues with respect to the work of the GASAC and the GASB. GASAC members also are encouraged to observe at least one public meeting of the GASB each year.

In communicating with and advising the GASB, the GASAC, as a body, is not expected to take positions on substantive financial accounting or reporting issues or to constitute an appeals forum for the review or reexamination of existing governmental accounting concepts or standards. It is, however, expected that individual members of the GASAC will communicate both to the GASAC and the GASB their individual views (as well as the views of the organizations they represent) on all aspects of the GASB's operations, including the need for review or reexamination of governmental financial accounting and reporting concepts or standards and the substantive aspects of governmental financial accounting and reporting issues under consideration by the GASB. Important functions of the GASAC are to assist in assuring that the GASB's views and the reasoning underlying those views are being adequately communicated to the public and to ensure that the views of GASAC members are being communicated effectively and in a timely manner to the GASB and to other members of the GASAC.

Members of the GASAC, when requested and as practicable, serve on GASB task forces and other groups and assist the GASB in obtaining research assistance and information and other data. GASAC members also are expected to serve on such committees and other groups as may be organized and appointed by the Chairman of the GASAC.

D. Chairman and Advisory Council Operations

The principal officer of the GASAC is its Chairman, who is appointed by the Foundation's Board of Trustees to serve at their pleasure after consultation with the GASAC. The Chairman of the GASAC shall be appointed for a term of two years expiring on December 31 in the second calendar year from the year of election and until a successor is appointed. The GASAC Chairman may be reappointed for up to two additional terms. If the Chairman is appointed from among the then-serving members of the GASAC, such member's initial term as Chairman shall be coterminous with the expiration of his/her then-current term as a member of the GASAC.

The Chairman presides at the meetings of the GASAC. The Chairman is responsible for implementing and directing the broad operating processes of the GASAC and for guiding discussion at GASAC meetings to assure the effective and timely communication of the comments and views of GASAC members to the GASB and to the GASAC generally. The Foundation's Board of Trustees may appoint one or more members of the GASAC as Vice-Chairmen to exercise the powers and to carry out the duties of the Chairman in the absence or disability of the Chairman or as otherwise may be delegated pursuant to the Foundation's By-Laws.

The GASAC Chairman works cooperatively with the GASB Chairman to accomplish the functions of the GASAC and to facilitate the work of the GASB. The GASAC Chairman is responsible for assuring that the GASAC is prepared to discuss and consider effectively and in a timely manner technical and other issues on which it is consulted, and for establishing the GASAC's agenda and consulting with the GASB's Chairman as to the GASB's requirements in the Chairman's planning of the GASAC's agenda and its work. Drawing on the views of GASAC members (at GASAC meetings and otherwise), the Chairman is authorized to advise the GASB on behalf of the GASAC on matters with respect to which the GASAC is consulted, although GASAC members remain responsible for communicating their individual views directly to the GASB and the GASAC with respect to matters under study. As provided in the Foundation's By-Laws, any requirements for the GASB or others to consult with the GASAC, any of its committees or groups, or their members, will be satisfied by consultation with the Chairman of the GASAC or of any such committee or group, as the case may be, when acting in such capacity, with the understanding that such consultation shall be reported to the GASAC in writing or at the next meeting of the GASAC.

In furtherance of his or her responsibilities, the Chairman of the GASAC (following consultation with GASAC members and the GASB's Chairman) prepares short- and long-range project plans for the GASAC and transmits these plans to the GASB, the Foundation's Board of Trustees, and such others as the Chairman may determine. The Chairman is also responsible for preparing quarterly and annual reports as to the GASAC's activities and its progress for comparable distribution. With the prior approval of the Foundation's Board of Trustees, the Chairman has the authority to hire, retain, and contract with staff members to serve the GASAC and to fix their duties and the amount of their compensation in accordance with Foundation policies, and to appoint and contract with any persons or organizations with respect to services to be performed by them as consultants or independent contractors.

E. Committees and Other Groups

To facilitate the work of the GASAC, the GASAC Chairman may organize and appoint committees and other groups of GASAC members and such others as the Chairman may deem appropriate. Notwithstanding appointment of committees and other groups, all GASAC members continue to be responsible for effectively communicating their comments and views to the GASB and the GASAC with respect to issues and other matters under study.

In utilizing a GASAC committee or other group, the Chairman may request it to prepare a report for submission to the GASAC summarizing, as appropriate, the matters in question and the alternatives considered, the views of its members and others consulted, its consensus or conclusions (if any), and its reasoning and that of its members and others for supporting certain alternatives and rejecting others. As a record of views with respect to the matters under study, such reports, together with such other relevant information as may be available, can serve as the basis for GASAC discussion and the formulation of positions or other views relevant to the GASB in its activities. In such cases, the GASAC Chairman will be responsible for distributing such reports and other information to GASAC members, the GASB, and such others as the Chairman may deem appropriate sufficiently in advance to permit effective consideration and discussion.

II. MEETINGS

The GASAC will meet regularly at such intervals as its Chairman deems appropriate for the GASAC to perform its functions and will hold special meetings as the Chairman may determine or when requested by the GASB or its Chairman (following consultation with the GASAC's Chairman). All meetings[†] of the GASAC will be open to public observation to the extent of available seating at the place of the meeting, unless (1) in the judgment of the GASAC Chairman (following consultation with the GASB Chairman), the meeting (or a portion thereof) is likely to result in discussion or disclosure of matters which, if before a meeting of the GASB, would permit the GASB to close such meeting (or portion thereof) under its Rules of Procedure or (2) the GASAC Chairman (following consultation with the Foundation's President and Chief Operating Officer) determines to close such GASAC meeting or portion thereof, as the case may be.

[†]For purposes of this section a "meeting" means the joint deliberations (with or without others present) of at least a majority of the members of GASAC where those deliberations are intended or expected by the Chairman to result in the conduct or disposition of GASAC business, other than meetings of committees of GASAC members and informal gatherings primarily of a social nature at which the conduct or disposition of business is not intended or expected.

The GASAC will publicly announce the time, date, and place of each GASAC meeting, the agenda for the meeting (if then determined), the extent (if any) to which the meeting is to be closed to public observation and the reasons therefor, and a telephone number to call for further information. Such announcements will be made at least seven days in advance of regular meetings and two days in advance of special meetings, unless the GASAC Chairman determines that the business to come before the GASAC requires earlier consideration, in which event such announcements will be made as soon as possible. The agenda for a meeting (if not in the initial public announcement); any change in the time, date, or place of a meeting; and any determination by the GASAC Chairman to close a meeting previously announced as being open in whole or in part (and the reasons therefor) or to open a meeting (or a portion thereof) previously announced as being closed will be publicly announced as soon as practicable. Other significant changes in prior publicly announced information in respect of meetings will be publicly announced if and as practicable. All public announcements contemplated or permitted by these Operating Procedures may be made by or at the direction of the GASAC Chairman and will be sufficient if made by press release or such other means as the Chairman may determine, provided that the Chairman may adjourn any meeting in whole or in part to reconvene at another time, date, or place without any announcement other than announcement at the meeting. If and as practicable, copies of written announcements in respect of meetings will be provided to GASAC members and others serving on GASAC committees, the GASB Chairman, the Trustees of the Foundation, and such others as the Chairman may determine generally or in specific cases and will be posted on the GASB website.

Following each GASAC meeting, a report will be prepared by or at the direction of the Chairman that, subject to the limitations contemplated by this section, will list those GASAC members and observers present and summarize the matters discussed and views expressed, and that will constitute the minutes of the meeting.

Nothing in this section shall (1) authorize any person, unless specifically agreed to by the Chairman of the GASAC, to be heard at, or otherwise to participate in, any meeting of the GASAC or to record any meeting or portion thereof by electronic or photographic devices; (2) grant any person any rights not otherwise existing, including, without limitation, rights of access to any document, information, or data not otherwise part of the public file under these Operating Procedures or the Rules of Procedure of the GASB; (3) obligate the GASAC, the GASAC Chairman, or the GASB to provide any documents, information, or data used or referred to in the course of any meeting to any person; (4) preclude the ejection or exclusion of any person in attendance at any meeting whenever the Chairman of the GASAC deems such action appropriate to preserve decorum, or for health or safety reasons, or to terminate behavior unauthorized by this section; or (5) preclude the Chairman of the GASAC from directing that a meeting in session be cleared of spectators, temporarily or permanently, whenever the Chairman determines that the discussion during such meeting or any portion open to public observation is likely to result in discussion or disclosure of matters which would permit such meeting or portion thereof to be closed.
